Ike Invites 129 To Map Physical Fitness Buildup

Athletes, Educators Called To Talks On Aiding U.S. Youth

DENVER (AP) — President Eisenhower today invited 129 sports world figures, top educators and leaders in other fields to a Sept. 27-28 conference here on building the physical fitness of America's youth.

The purpose of the conference is to get more youngsters out of the spectator grandstands and into active participation in athletics.

The President has expressed concern that lack of such participation is responsible in part for increasing juvenile delinquency, and for failure of so many young people to measure up to selective service requirements.

As announced previously, Vice President Nixon will preside at the two-day conference at Eisenhower's vacation headquarters here. The President will receive the conference's recommendations and speak at a dinner concluding the sessions.

Bobby Jones Invited

Those invited to the conference from the sports world include:

Bobby Jones, the former grand slam champion of golf; Gene Tunney, former heavyweight boxing champ; Rogers Hornsby, one-time baseball great and now director of youth activities for the Chicago Park District; baseball Commissioner Ford Frick; Clarence "Biggie" Munn, athletic director at Michigan State University; Kenneth L. Wilson, president of the U. S. Olympic Committee; and Army Maj. Sammy Lee, Olympic diving champion who recently was twice rejected by Southern California Real Estate men in his attempts to purchase a home.

Is Korean Descendant

They turned Lee down because of his Korean lineage. Subsequently he was offered a house for sale in another California community where he plans to settle when he leaves the Army. He is a physician on staff at Ft. Carson, Colo.

Among education leaders invited are Dr. Arthur S. Adams, president of the American Council on Education, and Dr. Lawrence D. Hawkes of Oneonta, N. Y., president of the American Assn. of Colleges for Teacher Education.

Horse's Ownership May Be Decided In Lisbon Court Suit

LISBON — Horsemen are sentimental.

Take the case of "Scotty," or "old Scotty" as the riding horse is affectionately referred to.

Scotty's case came up Thursday in the court of Carl Turk of Signal, a justice of the peace.

Cecil Kelly of Salem RD 5, the plaintiff, testified he bought Scotty in 1947 for $115 from the horse's former owner, who died six months after the purchase. Kelly said he promised the former owner that he would give Scotty a good home.

Kelly said he loaned the horse to Donald Biddle of Lisbon RD 5 four years ago and Biddle put the horse up for auction. Otis McMillan bought the horse June 25 for $90 at the auction, the plaintiff said, without Kelly's knowing about it. Biddle and McMillan are the defendants in the case.

The plaintiff said he has put up a $300 replevin bond and reclaimed the horse, pending the justice of the peace's decision in the case. Turk is still studying the evidence.

Fifteen witnesses and three lawyers took part in the four-hour hearing, with the horsemen arrayed against the citizenry of Elkrun Township.

During the testimony, it was "mutually agreed" that old Scotty is "around 18 years old" and "stumbles when ridden."

Indications are that old Scotty won't be around too much longer, but Kelly, who had only seen the horse a few times since he loaned it to Biddle, testified that he wanted the horse returned because he made a promise to his owner. The horse was not in court.

TOAD IMPRISONED 24 YEARS. When Kenneth Koons was digging through concrete block, clay and dirt in a basement Friday at the City Hospital Nurses Home, he came across a diminutive toad inside a deep tunnel.

The toad has been sealed in the concrete block for 24 years since the cellar was put in, Koons believes since the floor has been tightly sealed since 1931. The creature was found a foot below the concrete, and numerous tunnels can be seen diverging from the main hole or "cave" which the toad has called "home" for so many years. Koons said he saw tiny feet marks of the toad where he had made tiny balls of clay. The marks of his feet were apparent all through the clay.

Mrs. Drusie Bryan, housekeeper at the school, is shown in picture above with the tiny toad perched on her hand. After the picture was taken, the toad was put on the ground among the fall leaves where immediately its color changed to a yellow-brown hue. When Koons discovered the toad, its color was black.

Ohio-Michigan Reciprocity Pacts To End

State Boards Meet, Neither Side Buds In Truck Tax Dispute

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—The Ohio Michigan highway reciprocity agreement will expire Sept. 24 unless officials of the two states reach an 11th hour agreement.

The Ohio and Michigan reciprocity boards met for five hours yesterday but neither side budged an inch in the dispute.

John H. McCarthy, chairman of the Michigan board and chairman of the state public service commission, said Ohio truckers using Michigan roads will have to buy Michigan license plates if the agreement dies.

In addition, Michigan truckers driving through Ohio would have to pay Ohio's heavy axle mile tax of from one to three cents a mile.

Under the reciprocity agreement, truckers can travel in either state with only their home state plates.

Held Truckers Exempt
A recent Ohio Supreme Court decision, handed down after Michigan truckers brought suit in Ohio courts, held that Michigan truckers were exempt from the Ohio axle mile tax under existing reciprocity pacts.

Ohio officials attending the meeting asked Michigan to amend the reciprocity agreement to sidestep the Supreme Court decision and allow Ohio to collect its axle mile tax on Michigan truckers.

The axle mile tax imposed by Ohio is ten times stiffer than Michigan's mileage tax, said McCarthy. The Michigan tax yields about $1,200,000 a year, he said. Ohio officials said their axle mile tax was expected to yield $20,000,000 a year.

Ohio announced it would cancel the reciprocity agreement Sept. 8 unless Michigan accepted the amendment as requested.

The Ohio Supreme Court's decision left Ohio with no alternative but to cancel or amend the agreement if it wants to continue collecting its axle mile tax.

"We had no intention of disturbing the reciprocity agreement as it affects license plates and other taxes," said Robert L. Moulton, chairman of the Ohio Reciprocity Board.

To Collect Tax
"Our only objective was to remove the court's impediment to collection of the axle mile tax," Moulton said.

Expiration of the reciprocity agreement between the two states would not affect auto drivers. Out-of-state drivers can use Michigan roads for 90 days without buying Michigan plates.

Secretary of State James M. Hare said the death of the Michigan-Ohio agreement may disrupt

Kerr Says Benson Should Be Fired

Official Says GOP Inherited Farm Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Kerr (D-Okla.) said today Secretary of Agriculture Benson should be removed from office because he is "directly responsible" for the continuing decline in farm income.

Kerr made plain in an interview that he does not think President Eisenhower will fire Benson, long a prime target of Democratic criticism.

The senator said Benson's removal would require a "political operation"—a Democratic victory in next year's presidential election which, Kerr said, is the only hope for the nation's farmers.

The senator was commenting on Benson's news conference statement late Friday that the farm situation is a real problem but one which the Eisenhower administration inherited from previous Democratic regimes.

The agriculture secretary called for "serious, nonpartisan consideration" of the problem. Without naming names he deplored efforts of persons who, he said, are trying to make a "political football" out of the growing spread between falling prices farmers are receiving for their products and rising prices they have to pay for goods they must buy.

Benson has promised some "very specific" legislative proposals for Congress next January, although they are not expected to involve the administration's controversial basic shift from rigid to flexible farm price supports. Republican state chairmen agreed at a meeting here last week that declining farm prices are the biggest political barrier to the election of a GOP Congress next year.

Alliance Phone Workers Hold Protest Strike

ALLIANCE, Ohio (AP) Bell telephone employees here walked off their jobs for two hours yesterday and voiced dissatisfaction because their pay scales were not upgraded in a new contract between the utility and CIO Communications workers.

A group of about 85 employees, most of them operators, left work at 2:30 p. m. and were away about two hours attending a union meeting. Their absence caused some difficulty in maintaining long distance call service.

In yesterday's new contract which ended a one-hour statewide strike, neighboring Salem and Kent-Ravenna exchanges, along with Ashtabula and Middletown, were moved up one pay class. That meant raises of up to $5.50 a week for operators in those cities against the $2.50 increases which apply here and in other cities not upgraded.

A dog suffering from what a local veterinarian termed a virus infection of the brain was caught in a drainage pipe for 2 1/2 hours Friday evening.

The dog, a one-year-old cocker spaniel, is owned by Lawrence McKinney of 481 W. Pershing St. City police and dog warden Russell Reichenbach of North Georgetown assisted McKinney in uncovering the drain. Finally, after several useless attempts to work through the 45 foot long 10 inch tile, the men cracked the tile and dug down through the top.

The dog was treated by Dr. C. E. McElwee.

Chinese Free 3rd American Had Been Imprisoned 5 Years, 8 Months

HONG KONG (AP) — Continuing their slow-motion turnover of 10 American civilians they had promised to release at once, the Chinese Communists sent a third man across the border to freedom today.

He was Lawrence R. Buol, 34, of Stockton, Calif., who arrived at the frontier after five years eight months imprisonment.

The Reds also released an ailing Italian bishop who said he had been a prisoner in Communist China since 1951.

Buol, former operations officer for the American-owned Civil Air Transport was in high spirits. He told welcoming American and British officials that his years of confinement had not been too tough physically, but "morally I was treated badly."

Buol immediately asked about his wife Sue, who has been keeping an anxious vigil in Hong Kong ever since word arrived that he was to be freed.

He also sent a telegram to his family hailing his release as "the happiest day of my life."

"I want to express my thanks and appreciation to everyone, large and small, who contributed towards the amelioration of conditions and to all those responsible for my release," he said.

Lost 30 Pounds

Happily chewing gum, Buol wore a sports shirt and faded knee pants. He said he had lost about 30 pounds during his ordeal but looked fairly fit.

In contrast, the Italian prelate, identified as Bishop Alphonsus Ferroni, was so weak he had to be carried across the Schumchun River border.

"I can't believe how any person in his right mind should want to go back there," Ferroni said, motioning in the direction of Red China.

The prelate said six or seven Americans had boarded his train at Hankow and probably were now in Canton, 80 miles from Hong Kong.

Buol's release came just 24 hours after the arrival of two other Americans—Walter A. Rickett of Seattle, a Fulbright scholar, and the Rev. Harold W. Rigney of Chicago, Roman Catholic educator. Both had been held since 1951.

All three were set free as a result of the Geneva negotiations between representatives of the United States and Red China. The Chinese agreed to release at once 10 of 41 American civilians held. Twelve of the 41, not actually under arrest, are declared by the Chinese to be free to go when they choose. The other 19 may appeal to the British charge d'affaires in Peking to help them get out.

Rebellion Flares At Half Dozen Points Friday

Bombing Reported In Buenos Aires; Navy May Join Revolution

BULLETIN

NEW YORK (AP)—The telephone circuit from Buenos Aires faded out today as Associated Press correspondent Sam Summerlin was dictating a bulletin which began: "A thunderous explosion rocked the Buenos Aires port area today as a military plane x x x"

It was believed the plane had dropped a bomb.

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Forces supporting President Peron seized the initiative today and hammered savagely in an effort to crush a rebellion that flared Friday at half a dozen points. Maj. Gen. Franklin Lucero, "commander of repression," said there was "tranquility" except at isolated points.

It was the fourth attempt to oust Peron since the unsuccessful navy-led revolt of June 16 and was clearly the bloodiest rebellion Peron has faced in his nine years of power. There have been alternating claims of success in the current uprising.

Lucero repeated a previous proclamation assuring the people that there was "tranquility throughout the country" except at the scattered points of rebel resistance. He identified only two resistance points, Cordoba, important city in central Argentina 400 miles northwest of Buenos Aires; Punta Alta, a city of about 26,000 some 375 miles southwest of Buenos Aires. Rebel forces claimed to have captured Bahia Blanca, a big wheat port, late Friday.

The broadcast insisted the Argentine navy was loyal to the Peron regime and that the main fleet was anchored at Puerto Madryn, 600 miles south of Buenos Aires. This claim of naval loyalty conflicted with rebel claims the fleet was steaming northward in battle formation to join the revolutionists. The rebels have claimed since Friday night they controlled much of southern Argentina, plus strategic Cordoba province and its capital, the city of Cordoba.

A rebel radio station calling itself the "Force of Freedom" broadcast today from Cordoba.

The broadcast warned that anyone caught spreading false rumors "would be shot on the spot." It claimed the insurgents are not aligned with any political party are not "the instrument of the am-

20 On School Bus Unhurt In Mishap

Twenty school children being taken home in a Fairfield-New Waterford school bus escaped possible injury yesterday when a car ran into the rear end of the slow moving bus on Route 14, one and one-half miles west of Columbiana, at 2:40 p. m.

State highway patrolmen said a car operated by Howard H. Holt, 44, of Elwyn, Pa., crashed into the rear of the school bus operated by Arthur G. Wisler, 39, of RD 2, Leetonia, when the westbound bus slowed down to make a stop.

The front end of the bus was demolished and the bus received minor damage, patrolmen said. Holt was cited by patrolmen for failure to stop at an assured clear distance.

The latest school bus accident marks the second this week. State patrolmen have issued a warning to motorists that Ohio traffic laws require all drivers to stop on both the approach and from the rear of any school buses stopping or in the process of stopping.

Numerous complaints from school bus drivers have brought about closer scrutiny during school hours, the patrolmen said. All violators seen and reported will be arrested, they said. The traffic violation draws a minimum fine of $50 and costs.

A CHILD SLEEPS...

A Child sleeps peacefully... a sleep without dreams. The day just passed has been filled with: play, adventure, new learning and discoveries. The day ahead is something to look forward to.

There are no nightmares for this child because there is no fear to kindle them. For it is the fear of the unknown... the fear of tomorrow... that stirs us to unrest.

To look forward to tomorrow tranquilly... as this child does... you must have FAITH. You will find that faith in the Church, and with it you will be able to face, unafraid, your tomorrows, and all they hold.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Religion In And On The Job

A Valid Contract

By EUGENE CARR

Early this summer a friend found himself faced with a major piece of work that would take every minute of his time for the next 30 days or so.

This sudden change in his customary routine presented a number of problems, among them the fact he would not be able to properly care for his lawn and garden which had always been a source of great pride and pleasure to him.

But, the special job had to be done. In spite of garden, lawn, or any other interest, it was essential he concentrate on the work at hand.

A couple of weeks ago, we were sitting in the front yard of his home, enjoying the coolness of early evening.

"Your lawn is beautiful," I said.

"I thought you were too busy this summer to take care of it!"

"Well, I'll tell you," he answered.

"I knew I wouldn't be able to do anything about it during July. But, I also knew I could put in all the time necessary in August."

He looked away for a moment.

across the expanse of rich, green grass, into the flower bed area, flanked with fruit trees.

"You know," he went on, "we had some fine rains around here in July and they came when we needed them most. They were the contribution of nature—a blessing from the Almighty. In return and in appreciation, through our dry and searing August, I put in a lot of extra hours on the lawn. Call it a contract, if you wish, my side of a contract with God."

The special work my friend had undertaken early in the summer was a research project which is destined to benefit and aid mankind in the fight against a crippling ailment. He finished it, successfully, and on time.

"By the way," I asked, "how do you account for the fact all the other lawns around here look so good?"

"Well," and he laughed as he answered, "I didn't expect it to rain on just my place."

He got up from his chair. "Excuse me a moment," he said, "while I go move my sprinklers."

Worth Saving

By TRUMAN TWILL

They say college towns are all the same. What they say is true — if you understand what they mean.

What they mean is that college towns have something in common. But this does not mean they are all the same.

They vary according to size and the size of the college. If the town gets so big that the college is only a minor part of it, no one will ever know it is a college town at all.

The thing college towns have in common shows up most clearly where town and gown are in a standoff — where the town could not exist without the gown and the gown requires all the services and facilities of the town.

We visited a college town like that yesterday.

The thing all college towns have in common was easy to see and easy to admire. It was the plainly evident attempt to save what is worth saving. That is the purpose of education. College towns reflect it.

Stately and ancient elms arched the residential streets and shaded the campus. Buildings of no particular vintage that "just grew" according to the necessity of sheltering generations of students nestled cornice to bay with architectural jewels mellowed by decades of exposure to the elements.

But everything was in sound repair. It was being taken care of. Next to structures so old you expected to see a coed in crinoline or a mutton-chopped hot-rod on a high-wheeled cycle, new buildings as modern as the most advanced designs of the architectural functionalists were being added to the sum total of things worth saving.

Children were everywhere, testimonials in large part, no doubt, to the fecundity of the learned, who lead lives apart and raise large families to prove their confidence in a community of wisdom.

Tricycles and foreign sports cars were mingled with bicycles and jalopies — and all were mixed into the endless wheeled procession to nowhere and back in record time that has become the preoccupation of restless Americans.

But here, in a typical college town, was an eddy of quiet in the torrent of motion. Behind the twinkling windows of the library were more than a million books, recording the experience of all the torments that have carried men thither and yon from the beginning of time.

In the classrooms set off by ivied walls from the bustle and hustle of the world was a hallowed tradition that one of the purposes of education is to lather up a nodding acquaintance with some of the better known eternal verities, such as the one about never drawing to an inside straight in a game that can get expensive.

They try to save what is worth saving in college towns — people, buildings, ideas, books, principles and the old school way of doing things. That is what college towns have in common — respect for what men have learned is good.

A casual visitor from the suburbs of Hurly-Burly gets the idea he could stretch out on the grass under an ancient elm and think about Whither Mankind all day and not even draw a second glance from the squirrels.

Personal Piffle

People who squawk as if public schools were making no progress should give an old-timer five minutes to describe things as they were as recently as a third of a century ago.

It won't bring down the blood pressure of people who object to the Latin American bull-ring pageant called "Death in The Afternoon," but it adds a sense of proportion to know that more boxers are killed in U.S. prize rings than in bull rings, to say nothing of death in U. S. auto races and that the deadliest of all sports, football killed 25 in the United States last year.

I do not know anyone who lives in Los Angeles, but if I did I would offer to help them get back into the United States as a displaced person.

Unfortunately, Marine Capt. Richard McCutchen is in no way typical of most men who are not professional chefs. But his TV performance suggested once more that it may be a mistake to let women get the impression they are responsible for culinary art in this country. Women are technicians in cookery; only men are artists.

It seems to me the national officials of the Democratic party couldn't be given less helpful advice than to identify their party with labor unions. If unions fail into disrepute, the party will be tarred with the same stick; the same as the Republican party took a tarring during the business collapse in the thirties.

I have the impression most men put on their shoes too early in the morning and take them off too late at night to notice they need maintenance work to bring them up to minimum requirements for neatness.

If the telephone company and companies that solicit business by telephone were to sample public reaction, they might be inclined to pull out of a practice that causes so much irritation.

It was a sorry day for people who wear glasses when designer began to tax their ingenuity with new models and fads every other year. The glasses I wore as a child were infinitely more comfortable than the ones I am wearing now — and were designed to stay put, which is even more important.

On the first day of hunting season, I imagine the furred creatures asking one another, "What do these people want to murder us for? We haven't harmed them. The cannibals aren't even hungry!"

Saddest thing about the melancholy days is that the sun goes down early on some of the most beautiful weather of the year.

When I see the football equipment the schoolboys use now and remember the weird makeshifts that were commonplace when I aspired to be a pigskin hero. I wonder how the kids of my generation got out with nothing more serious than "football knees" and broken collarbones.

'Aw, What's The Use?'

Cold War On Air Waves

By JAY G. HAYDEN

Based on tips from the Moscow press, U.S. planners for resumption of the East-West peace effort at Geneva next month have stepped up the existing "radio war" to near the top of the list of issues likely to be discussed.

According to Pravda it is imperative first of all that non-Communist countries, especially the United States, cease their attack by air propaganda "if the cold war is to be ended."

Actually, of course, the Communists themselves started the radio barrage and their discontent now arises from the circumstance that the West more and more has been penetrating their jamming defensive. At no time, on the other hand, has there been any attempt by Western nations to bar out Russian radio transmissions.

A comical phase recently in Russia's jamming of its own voices. Much was made of the fact that Vladimir V. Matskevich, top man among Soviet agricultural tourists, delivered his final speech into a "Voice of America" microphone set up in the Russian embassy in Washington.

AS SUBSEQUENTLY disclosed, however, reception of Matskevich's voice by Russian listeners was blocked out so far as his government's jamming facilities were able.

Similarly, Britain's British Broadcasting Co. loaned its facilities in Geneva to carry speeches by Prime Minister Bulganin and Nikita S. Khrushchev to all European Communist countries with disclosure later that the Russian "jammers" abated their resistance not one whit in deference to utterances by their own bosses.

The reason for those anomalies, as the technicians guess, is that Russian's jamming is totally non-selective. Either it must let everything in or shut everything out. And they may have suspected under cover of the outwardly friendly American and British transmissions a multitude of other stations might flood their constituencies with messages full of hostility and trouble.

As disclosed by a survey in the current issue of the London Economist actual volume on broadcast- ing across the Iron Curtain is now of much the same order of magnitude in each direction.

"THE VOICE OF AMERICA and the BBC are the main governmental radio systems involved on the Western side, although France, Italy and other countries also address themselves to audiences in Eastern Europe. There are too the unofficial stations, manned by refugees and relying primarily on private American finance, which operate from Western Germany: Radio Liberation, which appeals to the Soviet peoples, and Radio Free Europe, which aims at the satellites. And the RIAS station in the American sector of Berlin finds listeners throughout Eastern Germany."

The British Broadcasting Company always has shunned outright propaganda; preferring rather to get its messages across by an adroit selection among straight news items. Latterly, the Voice of America has become much more cautious and conservative.

Even the stations run in the name of refugees but actually under some degree of American official direction have calmed down a little in consonance with the softer tone in world affairs, but still their main aim is to stir their Communist listeners toward revolt.

Says the Economist: "On the Communist side, the state radio systems whose short-wave beams stretch out to Latin America and the Pacific islands are also supplemented by 'unofficial' broadcasts, but of a different kind. 'Free Japan' and 'Free Greece' transmitters, to name only two, appeal to specific non-

Communist countries, and the threadbare fiction is maintained that they operate from those countries' soil. Nor do the Russians admit the existence of the costly system of jamming stations.

"NEVERTHELESS, even with upwards of a thousand jamming transmitters against them, the Western radios are known to reach sizable audiences behind the Curtain. Senior Soviet officials have acknowledged that they could and did hear them, and the scale of reception in satellite countries is grimly revealed by the number of savage sentences for 'spying' or 'rumor-mongering' inflicted on men and women unlucky enough to be caught listening to London or Munich."

The United States line on this subject when the big four reassembles is easy to chart. It will be that "international propaganda," like "spying," is wholly contrary to the American nature, and we would love to be rid of it.

THE VOICE OF AMERICA, it will be pointed out, began as a protective device, aimed to equalize the Soviet infiltration, coming not only over the air waves but by every other means the Communists could devise. Because of the barring from Russia of every other form of communication, the air waves became the only way to reach Russian ears.

The real solution of the problem, an African delegates will argue, is to take down the Iron Curtain and let people and ideas freely circulate both ways; after which trumped-up propaganda barrages of every sort soon will become worse than useless for all.

There are methods by which it is believed that the accident-prone individual can be identified. He (or she) is considered impulsive and concentrated on immediate pleasures or satisfaction and thus likely to act on the spur of the moment.

The accident-prone person is believed to have an instinct of rebellion and resentment and to demonstrate the "showoff" and "don't give a damn" type of psychology.

Another method of attack on the problem is to pay greater attention to the physical condition of the drivers of our motor vehicles. Obviously, a person with really poor eyesight cannot be as safe a driver as one who has good vision. Probably too, there are other physical characteristics which enter into the picture.

Some physicians have made specific suggestions regarding the design of cars which would lessen the danger of death or serious injury if the car did become involved in an accident.

These suggestions have included belts for the passengers to hold them in place similar to those on airplanes, and governors which would keep the speed of the vehicle below the most dangerous levels. So far as I know, few, if any, automobile designers have followed these suggestions.

There is one encouraging note. Although there were over 36,000 traffic deaths from traffic accidents in 1954 this was nearly 2000 fewer than in the preceding year in spite of the increased mileage traveled.

Britannia Rules Airwaves

England is having its first airwave commercials. . . Which may be why Britishers seem so downcast at the moment. . . Up to now they have been getting their airwave entertainment without the built-in advertiser. Never, until now, have they gotten the idea that, no matter who won the girl or got bumped off in the free-for-all fight, a pill, smoke, lipstick or cake mix would emerge victorious.

Not until this week have they ever been led to believe that, while the hero won the heroine, her heart belonged to the tobacco, petroleum or soft-drink industry. . . It's quite an experience for John Bull.

THE BRITISH FANS are well protected, however, since no advertiser can put on a show as a sponsor, and can merely buy advertising at the rate of but six minutes per hour. . . No soup company can decide on the story and no hair-oil producer choose the cast and change the script. . . And get this: NO INTERRUPTIONS for commercials will be permitted except at natural intervals in the story between acts!!!

The British are to be spared a sobbing heroine who asks, "Why am I telling you all this?" and abruptly steps out of character with "Yes, if you want a good deodorant, go now to the nearest drugstore," etc. . . On the new British TV there will be no programs between 6 and 7 p.m. . . (Let Junior eat his veal cutlet without Indians, cowboys or gang wars, I always say.)

"PETER PAN" is being done on an ice show. . . A Never-Never Land with "Skates Sharpened" signs.

Russians took Adenauer to see "Romeo and Juliet." . . Wanted him to get that line "But, soft! What light through yonder window breaks? It is THE EAST!"

Hitler has been officially ruled dead. . . Obviously he couldn't have kept quiet all this time if breathing.

Leaders in the New York dock strike have seemed so muddle-brained that they say a top leader addressed his subordinates with "Let's check our heads outside and go into the hall for some top decisions."

Color TV is being tried in hospital operations. . . This can make a routine tonsil removal a "spectacular." . . And it can put the surgeon across as a star no matter what happens to the patient.

Sharon Ritchie, the new Miss America, won as an entrant from Colorado while Ike was spending his vacation there, and this could be a big factor in the election campaign if she retains her looks.

The Copa-Cobana, fabulous gothic nitery, has no pillars in this season. (If a customer insists he is sitting behind one he has had one too many drinks. . . With the pillars gone Joe E. Lewis no longer need fear his jokes will ricochet.)

RUSSIA HAS GONE so all out for the smile that it would probably give all the candles in Moscow for Liberate. . . Some of the Soviet smiles, however, look pretty well worn out and need retreading.

Dag Hammarskjold who went to Red China almost a year ago to get the release of Americans, a few of whom were finally given their freedom, issues a statement on his mission, but we can't make out whether it is an endorsement of slow motion or a testimonial to personal patience. . . Orson Welles is doing his own movie version of Othello and plays the Moor as if playing Tarzan.

Auto Accidents

The problem of motor vehicle accidents is appalling. They were responsible for about 35,500 deaths during 1954 and an enormous number of nonfatal injuries.

Today the chances of dying in or from a motor vehicle accident are almost as great as from heart disease or cancer.

It is interesting that there is a great geographical variation in the hazards of fatal motor vehicle accidents. The dangers are least in the New England states followed by New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

The risk is higher in the central states of the United States, the south and along the Pacific coast. They are most of all in the Rocky Mountain states. The reasons for these geographical differences are certainly worthy of study.

The medical profession is interested in possibilities of reducing deaths, injuries and illnesses from any cause, including those from accidents. We do, therefore, have a part to play in this enormous problem.

It is now believed that there are some people who are particularly likely to be involved in traffic accidents.

In the state of Connecticut, for example, it was shown by a six-year study that about 1-25 of the automobile drivers were involved in more than one-third of the traf-

Charges Mill Owner Was Buried Alive

CHARDON, Ohio (AP)—The prosecution charged yesterday that 43-year-old Leo Cavey beat and robbed an elderly mill owner then buried him alive under a pile of rocks.

Prosecutor James W. Dinsmore told the jury trying Cavey on a charge of first degree murder that medical examination showed Alva J. Williams was still alive when he was left under the rocks.

Dinsmore said 14 of the 80-year-old wealthy eccentric's ribs were crushed by the rocks and that hemorrhages from the injuries indicated he was still alive.

The jury visited the scene in a woods where the man's body was found on May 15, three days after his disappearance. The prosecution said it would show Cavey beat Williams on the head with a pair of pliers while perpetrating a robbery.

Defense Attorney Emanuel H. McGregor said he would show Cavey did not kill Williams deliberately or with premeditation or in a robbery. He said he would show Cavey was maltreated as a child, and emotionally "warped" by an "unfortunate marriage." The trial was recessed until Monday.

The Eastgate section, 22 miles long, was opened last Dec. 1. The remainder of the toll road opens Oct. 1.

New Philadelphia Rips Salem Quakers 33-0 In Opener

Locals Held To 34 Yards Gained

5,075 Fans Attend;
Ravenna Here Next

By CARL NADRASY

A fast-charging, hard-hitting New Philadelphia forward wall that ripped huge, decisive holes in a weak Salem line spelled defeat for the Salem Quakers, 33-0, in Salem's initial start of the season before 5,075 fans at Reilly Stadium last night.

Using variations of plays through both tackle positions and right and left end sweeps, the New Philly gridders humbled the hometown team in a game that saw the locals hold the ball in the opposition's territory for only 12 plays and never penetrated any farther than the New Philly 30 yard line.

New Philadelphia Coach Bill Kidd's defensive coaching was clearly shown as his team held the Barrettmens to two first downs and 34 yards rushing throughout the entire game.

A powerful offense was also shown by New Philadelphia as they totaled 11 first downs rushing and two passing and gained 288 yards on the ground.

FULLBACK Jack Alexander's kickoff went to the New Philadelphia 15-yard line where it was picked up by right halfback Dave Seabrook and returned to his own 31 yard line.

After line bucks by fullback Paul Johns and halfback Seabrook gained five yards to the New Philly 36, quarterback Jim Rolli fumbled the ball on the third down and Salem halfback Herb Haschen recovered on the New Philadelphia 40-yard strip.

With a first-and-ten on the New Philly 40, fullback Jack Alexander gained five yards through left tackle, but Salem was penalized 15 yards for holding, moving the ball back to the Salem 45 yard line.

A first down and 25 yards to go situation sent Salem quarterback Roy Yeager back to pass but his 25-yard toss to Haschen went incomplete. On the next play Yeager again passed and it was intercepted by New Philly quarterback Jim Rolli on his own 25 and brought back to his 42-yard strip.

Seabrook gained five yards and halfback Bill Stokoy took a pitch out from Rolli to the Salem 35.

After hard-driving Seabrook had carried the ball to the Salem 22 on two plays, New Philadelphia was penalized for holding and the ball rested on the Salem 37 yard line. Seabrook and fullback Paul Johns again pounded the Salem line for yardage up to the 30. Rolli then passed to end Bill Cooper to the Salem 10 yard line for a first down.

Seabrook again roled up yardage to the one and a half yard line on two plays before quarterback Rolli skirted right end behind good blocking for the first touchdown, with three minutes and thirty seconds to go in the first period.

Carpenter's kick for the extra point was wide, making the score 6-0.

CARPENTER'S KICKOFF after the touchdown was a long one that bounced around on the Salem two yard line. Haschen waited for the ball to bounce into the end zone for the automatic touchback, but finally had to pick up the pigskin. He returned it to the Salem 19.

With a first and ten on the Salem 19, two runs by Alexander and Haschen and an incomplete jump pass from Yeager to Alesi failed to make a first down and Alexander was forced to punt. His kick was taken by Rolli on the New Philly 30-yard line and carried to the Salem 40. New Philadelphia was penalized 15 yards on the action for clipping, taking the ball back to the New Philadelphia 45 yard marker.

The New Philly attack grounded out two more first downs to the Salem 29, before Seabrook, all alone in the end zone, dropped a Rolli pass as the gun sounded ending the first quarter, with Salem on the short end of a 6-0 score.

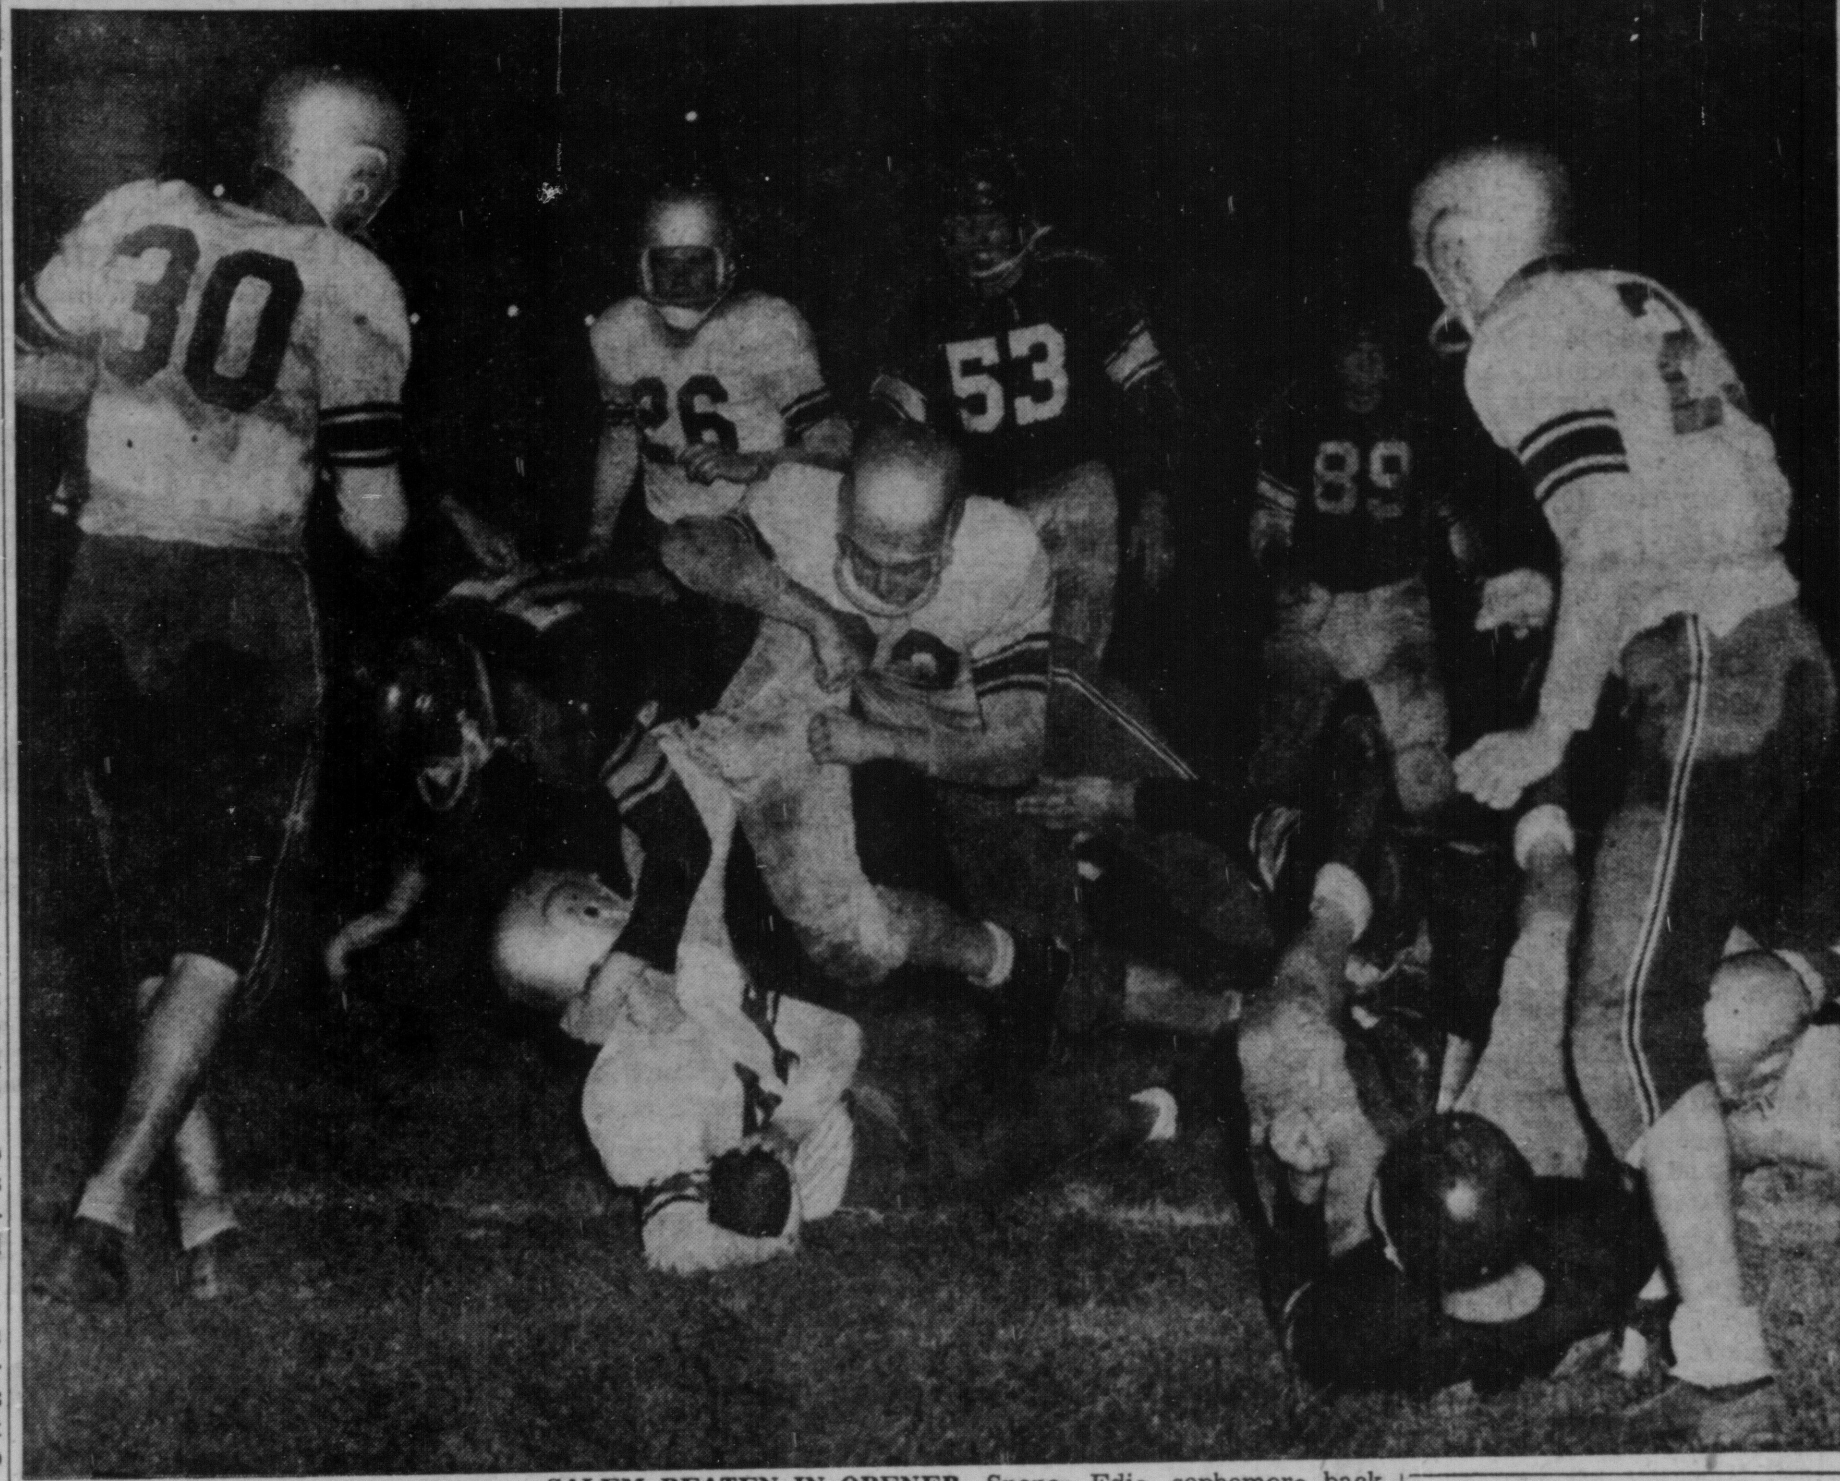

With their running game now functioning at full speed, Rolli, Johns, Seabrook and R. Stokoy tore through both tackle slots at will, and around right end until they had a first down on the Salem six. Their attack was then slowed somewhat when New Philly was penalized 15 yards to the Salem 21.

But the sustained drive of New Philadelphia was not to be denied as they pounded out yardage to the one-yard line before Seabrook skirted left end for the score.

Carpenter's kick was good, making the score 13-0 with six minutes and six seconds remaining in the half.

BURRIER, who replaced Schuster in the Salem lineup, took the Carpenter kickoff back to his own 19-yard marker.

Salem's attack faded again as a Yeager to Burrier pass attempt was intercepted by New Philly end Bill Cooper. Cooper raced the stolen pass into the Salem end zone only to have the play called back to over Demings in the playoff final last night.

Eljer Nips Deming For Softball Title

The Eljer team jumped on Bill Ehrhart, Demings pitcher, in the first inning for enough runs to win as they sent all three of their runs across the plate.

will invade Reilly Stadium. The game will begin at 8:15 Friday night.

Coach Barrett has announced that all of his sophomore players and all others that did not see action last night will play the North Lima Varsity at the North Lima field at 2 p.m. today. The game today will afford needed seasoning for those players that have not seen action under fire as yet, Barrett said.

third as Zoccol threw wildly to first base. Walt Miller then quickly scored Parish when he followed with a hit to center. Stoffer followed with a pop double to center to score the second Eljer run, and Smith ended the scoring by singling home Stoffer.

After the shaky start in the first inning, Ehrhart retired every man in order except one as Walt Miller smashed a single through the box in one of the late innings.

Murphy was tough, also, as he handcuffed Demings until the sixth inning when two walks and an infield hit loaded the bases. But Murphy bore down in the clutch and allowed only one run.

Eljer collected five hits off Ehrhart, while Demings got two off Murphy. Both teams played errorless ball.

Tigers Drop Indians From Lead, 3-0

CLEVELAND (AP)—"It's the saddest game I ever won" That was the surprising clubhouse reaction of Steve Gromek to his brilliant pitching against the Indians last night that dumped his former Cleveland teammates out of first place.

"Sure, I wanted to win real bad while I was out there pitching," he said after hurling the Detroit Tigers to 3-0 triumph that sent the Indians reeling into second place, two percentage points behind the winning New York Yankees. "But now that it's over, I don't enjoy the victory very much. I got quite a kick when I beat them right after they traded me away. But this is different. It might cost them the pennant."

The 35-year-old right-hander, traded by Cleveland to Detroit in 1953, stopped his ex-mates cold, holding them to three scattered hits in six innings after relieving the injured Billy Hoelt in the fourth. A two-run single by Earl Torgeson with two out in the seventh ended a scoreless mound duel between Gromek and Early Wynn.

"Ok, I'm glad I won but I'm sorry it had to be at the expense of my old buddies," Gromek said soberly. "After all, I've lived with those fellows for more than 12 years, ever since 1941. I came up with Lemon, Hegan, Mitchell and Rosen. We were always like one big happy family. I've always had a lot of respect for those fellows."

"I hope they win the pennant but that won't stop me from pitching my best against them. That is the way they feel about me, too. Before the game, they were kidding me. They said they were going to knock me out of the box if I pitched. But they also said they hoped some other guy would be charged with the defeat. If I pitch against them again, you can bet I'll do my damndest to beat them."

Gromek had only one worrisome inning as he posted his 13th victory and first of the season against Cleveland. That was the ninth when he walked the first two batters. But he got the next three without any damage.

Cleveland Manager Al Lopez was visibly affected over the shutout loss and shaken even more when informed that the Yankees had come from behind to nip the Red Sox in the ninth 5-4.

"You can't win if you don't score," he lamented. "We had some good shots but they were caught. Al Smith hit one that looked like a sure homer but it went foul. Al Rosen caught two on the nose but those fleet-footed Detroit outfielders caught up with them."

Lopez declined to discuss the pennant race beyond admitting that last night's results put the Yankees in a "slightly superior position."

"You must remember, however," he added, "they've got two more to play than we have."

NEW YORK (AP)—Two gents were sitting in a box behind home plate in the last half of the ninth Friday night at Yankee Stadium. The Yankees were losing 4-3 and pinch-batter Bill Skowron had just fouled out.

"Where," said one gent to the other, "are these 'money' guys I keep reading about on the Yankees?"

"Sit tight," said his friend, "Here comes Bauer."

Neither of the gents sat tight long. Bauer smashed a 1-1 pitch by Boston reliever Ellis Kinder into the left field stands.

"There," said the second gent, "there, is a 'money' guy!"

The homer tied it a 4-4 and even the following pop by Gil McDougald didn't dampen the spirits.

"Bauer, he is a 'money' guy," said the second gent to the first. "An' here comes another. It is all over, Berra is up."

He was right. Berra picked the first pitch deep into the right field stands his second home run of the game, and the Yankees won it 5-4.

"See? See? There are the 'money' guys!" said the second gent to the first. And they whooped it up with the other 50,000 fans who sat in on the dramatics.

The second "gent" was right. The Yankees were in the money and in the American League lead once again. By beating the Red Sox after Detroit had shelved Cleveland 3-0, New York replaced the Indians in first place by two percentage points.

More important, they now have a one-game edge on Cleveland in the "lost" column.

"It changes things around all right," said New York Manager Casey Stengel afterward. Then, with his flair for understatement: "I guess it means more folks will come out to see us Saturday."

Yankees Take Lead In AL

29th-Inning Homers Give New York Win

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

The patent for the big home run still belongs to the New York Yankees.

And combining that talent with the unexpected help of Detroit's Steve Gromek, the starter-turned-reliever, the Yanks are back in first place again in that treacherous American League pennant race.

A one-out homer by Hank Bauer drew the Yankees even with Boston in the ninth inning last night and after Ellis Kinder, the Red Sox relief maverick, got the second out, Yogi Berra rapped a shot into the right field stands to win it 5-4.

It was Yogi's 27th of the year and his second of the game.

Until the ninth, Kinder had been tagged for only two home runs all season.

Gromek, meanwhile, toppled Cleveland out of the lead with three-hit pitching in six innings of relief as Detroit lost 3-0.

New York took over by two percentage points. The Yanks also gained a one-game edge in the all-important "lost" column.

New York has won 89 and lost 56, with nine games remaining. Cleveland, with seven left, is 90-57.

Chicago's White Sox practically fell out of the fight with a 13-7 thrashing at Kansas City.

Boston played to the hilt the "spoiler" role it shares with Detroit. A three-run surge chased starter Whitey Ford in the eighth and gave the Red Sox a 4-3 advantage. But then, in a twinkling, it was all over.

Bauer connected on a 1-1 pitch off Kinder, who by baseball standards should be drawing social security. The 41-year-old righthander fed Berra a fast ball and Yogi gobbled it up.

In the process of claiming the lead for the first time since Aug. 30, the Yankees lost Mickey Manthe, who leads the league with 37 homers. He pulled a muscle in his right thigh beating out a bunt against Boston starter Frank Sullivan in the second inning.

An official report on the injury will have to wait until Mickey tests the leg today. But Mantle admitted "it doesn't feel good. I guess I'll be out a couple of days."

Mickey's bunt led to the first run off Sullivan and Berra's first homer made it 3-0 in the fifth. Sullivan, who's won 18, has yet to beat the Yankees, who have supplanted half of his eight defeats.

Reliever Jim Konstant, although giving up a pinch double to Faye Thronberry that scored the lead run in the eighth, held on for his seventh victory. Kinder, meanwhile lost his fourth straight.

Kansas City scored seven runs in the first to swamp the White Sox, now five games behind on the losing side with seven left. That splurge chased Connie Johnson and Harry Byrd. Alex Kellner and Tom Gorman, an ex-Yankee, did the pitching for the A's.

In the other AL action, last place Baltimore swept a pair from Washington—the only club with an edge over Cleveland—5-4 and 8-7.

The National League champion Brooklyn Dodgers beat New York 4-3 as Gil Hodges homered twice. Willie Mays hit one for the Giants to claim the major league lead with 46.

Robin Roberts won his 23rd as Philadelphia beat Pittsburgh 8-1. The Bucs' Dick Groat homered, breaking the major league one-season record. The National, which set the old mark with 1.197 in '53, now has 1,206 home runs.

Milwaukee practically cinched second place, beating St. Louis 9-4 in the only other game scheduled.

Marciano Big Favorite To Retain Title

By MURRAY ROSE

GROSSINGER, N. Y.—A heavy majority of boxing's "insiders," the fighters' trainers and managers, pick heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano to beat Archie Moore in their title fight Tuesday night at Yankee Stadium.

Some hedge somewhat by saying Moore will be "dangerous for five or six rounds" but if it goes beyond that it will be certain for the 38-year-old light heavyweight king.

Manager Jack Kearns and ex-Manager Tex Sullivan, now matchmaker at New York's St. Nicholas Arena, were the only ones of some 20 boxing men we talked to who pick Moore to win.

"Moore has a good chance of busting him up," said Sullivan. "He'll win if it goes all the way and he could take it by a kayo if he nails Rocky right."

"Archie will win after a rough, tough fight," said Kearns. "They'll both be on the floor before it's over. Archie will win on his superior boxing and experience."

"Rocky will wear that guy down until there'll be nothing left of him," said Abe Attell, a featherweight champion of long ago. "I've never seen any heavyweight who throws punches like Marciano does for 15 rounds. He's the most tireless heavyweight ever."

Pressure Still On Ward In Golf Tourney

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—For nearly a week, Harvie Ward, 29, has endured the pressure that only Bobby Jones used to know when he was playing in the National Amateur Golf Tournament. Like Bobby, Harvie has reacted like a champion.

Today the pressure still is on him rather than on William Hyndman III of Philadelphia as they met in the finals of the 55th National Amateur.

Even Bill Booe of Bridgeport, until this week, put the pressure on the San Franciscan in Friday's semifinals. He carried Harvie to the 34th green before yielding, 4 and 2.

Billy had a morning 72 and was only five over before he picked up on the 34th. Ward didn't have a birdie until the 27th.

Ohio Pro Qualifies In Daily News Open

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Leo Biagetti, 28, an unknown pro from Willoughby, Ohio, was the only one among the 30 who qualified for today's third round in the $20,000 Daily News Open to better par for 36 holes over the Cobbs Creek Golf Course.

DUPAS FAVORED IN BOUT

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Boxer Ralph Dupas of New Orleans, the No. 2 ranking lightweight challenger in the nation, is favored to defeat Mickey Northrup of Los Angeles in a 10-rounder at the Hollywood Legion Stadium tonight.

WIN GOVERNOR'S CUP

ROCHESTER (AP)—Rochester's Red Wings defeated Toronto 12-4 Friday night to take a 2-0 edge in the Governors' Cup playoff of the International League.

the entire reciprocity system set up by midwestern states.

"Reciprocity agreements," Hare said, "are designed to encourage interstate commerce. You must agree that this axle-mile tax is a bad tax because it discourages commerce."

Ohio officials maintained that the tax is necessary to construct adequate highways in Ohio.

"Actually the tax encourages commerce because it allows us to build highways that can carry these heavy truck loads," Moulton said.

Ohio officials say they have reciprocal agreements with 20 states. They have asked these states to amend the agreements to allow imposition of the axle-mile tax.

Three states have complied with the request, Ohio officials said.

THE "GATES OF HELL" — Machinist John T. Russell aptly described this scene when he said: "It looked like the gates of hell," after a five-million-dollar fire destroyed five factories in Manhattan, R. I. Some 2000 workers were jobless as the result of the fire which added new horror to the destruction from last month's floods. The flames burned out of control for five hours. Firemen said the sprinklers were inoperative—because of the recent floods.

tion of anyone." It declared that "only God and the fatherland guide our steps."

Lashing out in the predawn hours today, troops loyal to Peron crushed two rebel strongholds. A government radio broadcast said:

"Important military troops which are advancing to suffocate rebel centers continue to progress with the support of military aviation."

There was no accurate estimate of casualties in the bitter fighting but the toll was expected to far outstrip the 300 to 400 dead and 1,000 wounded in the June 16 upheaval. The largest announced death count was at Eva Peron, the capital of Buenos Aires Province, where 80 policemen were reported killed.

The rebels early today still claimed control of the central plains of Cordoba, the naval forces at sea, the big naval base of Puerto Belgrano and other isolated spots in the interior.

Airborne loyalist troops were reported in action against rebel forces at Cordoba, the provincial capital and a city of 350,000 persons.

The rebels claimed Friday Cordoba was "conquered again for God and fatherland."

Dalmiro Videla Balague, described by the government radio as the leader of the rebellion, proclaimed a provincial government at Cordoba and blamed Peron for "many deaths."

Loyalist troops were flown to Cordoba and immediately engaged rebel forces in the city's main square, reports from the scene said.

The first major rebel defeat came at the Rio Santiago Naval Base in southern Argentina, where loyal garrisons and ground troops rained bombs and artillery shells on anti-Peron forces. An official announcement said the revolutionary units there surrendered shortly before midnight after a day of furious fighting.

Another government announcement said a rebel garrison at Curuzia Cuatia fell early this morning and loyal troops were in pursuit of the rebels. Many prisoners were reported taken. Cuatia is a rail junction and airport town of 15,000 persons 325 miles northwest of Buenos Aires.

Puerto Belgrano, site of a naval base 350 miles southwest of Buenos Aires, apparently was a major rebel stronghold. A broadcast from there Friday said the revolutionary forces were gathering for a march on Buenos Aires. The broadcast urged civilian support for the uprising and said:

"The struggle has not been started so that it will be over in a few hours. It will last as long as necessary."

Two loyalist air force planes were reported shot down by anti-aircraft fire at Puerto Belgrano. Pro-Peron units were reported in action against rebel-held Bahia Blanca, a major Atlantic port near Puerto Belgrano.

Peron presumably was directing the counterattack against the rebels from this tense capital. He conferred Friday with his top ministers and military chiefs at his office and later at the army ministry. Later in the day he went to his residence where a spokesman said he was kept "constantly" informed of the situation.

A "command of repression" headed by Army Minister Maj. Gen. Franklin Lucero was named yesterday to cope with the uprising. A 4:30 p.m. curfew was decreed and a state of siege, previously in effect only in Buenos Aires, was extended to the entire country.

No violence was reported in Buenos Aires, contrasting with the June 16 revolt when the major fighting centered here. But anti-aircraft guns were manned in the city, artillery batteries were set up in the port area and all roads were heavily guarded.

Support of the Argentine fleet was claimed by both the loyalists and rebels. Most of the fleet was reported on maneuvers in the Atlantic about 600 miles south of Buenos Aires when the revolt flared. One rebel report claimed the fleet was heading for Buenos Aires in combat formation.

WOMEN SEEK CANDIDATES
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Federated Democratic Women of Ohio, winding up a two-day convention here today, have plans for nominating a woman candidate for a state office in 1956. Mrs. Bernice S. Pike of Lakewood, federation president, said yesterday, "we'll have a woman candidate next year."

22 EVENTUALLY—Mrs. Walter Beck looks over the 22 pigs she's going to have to bottle feed at farm near Niantic, Ill., 10 miles from Decatur. A sow had 12 pigs Sept. 8 and another 10 pigs. A veterinarian said a five-day wait between farrowing is almost unheard of.

700 Is Member Goal
In order to continue these concert seasons, it is necessary to maintain the present total membership of 700. By increasing the membership substantially, the scope of this community project can be broadened.

As it is impossible for the many workers to contact everybody, those interested may call in person at the headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, or phone ED 7-8101 Tuesday through Saturday until 5 p.m. Mrs. Vaughan, headquarters secretary, and Mr. Tapscott will accept memberships for adults or students.

At the close of the week's drive, the officers and directors will meet, set up the budget based on receipts from memberships and choose the series of concerts which will then be announced. No tickets can be sold for individual concerts under the Community Concerts closed membership plan.
